

Attunity Wins Deal Over $500,000 With Global Predictive Analytics Firm to Enable AWS Cloud Data Lake

August 7, 2018

Attunity Replicate provides real-time data ingestion from mainframe to cloud for modern analytics

BURLINGTON, Massachusetts, August 7, 2018 /PRNewswire/ --

Attunity Ltd. (NASDAQ CM: ATTU), a leading provider of data integration and big data management software solutions, announced today that a global predictive analytics firm (the "Customer") has signed an agreement for over $500,000 to license Attunity Replicate. The award-winning Attunity solution was selected to provide real-time data ingestion from the Customer's mainframe platform to an AWS cloud data lake. This modernization of the Customer's enterprise architecture is intended to facilitate modern and advanced analytics.

The Customer, a multi-billion-dollar firm serving the financial, insurance and energy sectors, selected Attunity for its ease of use and high performance in delivering DB2 zOS mainframe data in real-time to the cloud. These capabilities will enable the Customer to accelerate what is typically a complex and laborious process so that high volumes of data can be made available in real-time in their data lake. This new, more modern foundation will support the Customer's strategic business analytics initiatives and improve operations.

"This win demonstrates Attunity's unique ability to serve large organizations using mainframe systems and benefitting from modern technologies in the cloud. It also highlights the value we deliver in enabling strategic solutions for modernization," stated Mark Logan, President at Attunity. "We are continuing to see cloud data lake adoption grow and look forward to helping other customers overcome their data integration challenges."

Safe Harbor Statement

This press release contains forward-looking statements, including statements regarding the anticipated features and benefits of Replicate Solutions, within the meaning of the "safe harbor" provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 and other Federal Securities laws. Statements preceded by, followed by, or that otherwise include the words "believes", "expects", "anticipates", "intends", "estimates", "plans", and similar expressions or future or conditional verbs such as "will", "should", "would", "may" and "could" are generally forward-looking in nature and not historical facts. For example, when we say that we are continuing to see cloud data lake adoption grow and look forward to helping other customers overcome their data integration challenges, we use a forward-looking statement. Because such statements deal with future events, they are subject to various risks and uncertainties and actual results, expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements, could differ materially from Attunity's current expectations. Factors that could cause or contribute to such differences include, but are not limited to, risks and uncertainties relating to: our history of operating losses and ability to achieve profitability; our reliance on strategic relationships with our distributors, OEM, VAR and "go-to-market" and other business partners, and on our other significant customers; our ability to manage our growth effectively; acquisitions, including costs and difficulties related to integration of acquired businesses and possible impairment charges; our ability to continue to expand our business into the SAP market and the success of our Gold Client offering; timely availability and customer acceptance of Attunity's new and existing products, including Attunity Replicate, Attunity Compose and Attunity Visibility; fluctuations in our quarterly operating results, which may not necessarily be indicative of future periods; changes in the competitive landscape, including new competitors or the impact of competitive pricing and products; a shift in demand for products such as Attunity's products; the impact on revenues of economic and political uncertainties and weaknesses in various regions of the world, including the commencement or escalation of hostilities or acts of terrorism as well as cyber-attacks; and other factors and risks on which Attunity may have little or no control. This list is intended to identify only certain of the principal factors that could cause actual results to differ. For a more detailed description of the risks and uncertainties affecting Attunity, reference is made to Attunity's latest Annual Report on Form 20-F which is on file with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and the other risk factors discussed from time to time by Attunity in reports filed with, or furnished to, the SEC. Except as otherwise required by law, Attunity undertakes no obligation to publicly release any revisions to these forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances after the date hereof or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events.
