

Attunity Wins $1 Million Agreement With Large European Bank to Enable Strategic Data Lake Initiative

December 18, 2018

Attunity Replicate and Attunity Enterprise Manager selected to automate real-time data integration from hundreds of enterprise data sources

BURLINGTON, Massachusetts, December 18, 2018 /PRNewswire/ --

Attunity Ltd. (NASDAQ CM: ATTU), a leading provider of data integration and big data management software solutions, announced today that a large European bank (the "Customer") has signed a $1 million strategic license and services agreement for Attunity Replicate and Attunity Enterprise Manager \(AFM\), with future expansion opportunities.

The Customer, one of Europe's leading retail and commercial banks, selected Attunity to integrate data from its many enterprise data sources into a corporate data lake to enable strategic data analytics. The current incumbent solutions were unable to support the heterogeneity and scale required for success. Following a comprehensive selection process, the Customer chose Attunity's easy-to-use platform for its ability to deliver real-time data ingestion from a wide variety of systems, including SQL Server and Oracle. The Attunity platform will automate their data integration process - eliminating the need for programming or scripting. These capabilities are expected to accelerate the rollout of the Customer's new analytics initiative.

"Customers worldwide continue to choose Attunity as a valued partner - helping to enable the most strategic data analytics initiatives," stated Mark Logan, President at Attunity. "This agreement is another proof point of that. We are excited to continue our momentum within the financial services market where providing real-time access to business data and analytics is essential."

Safe Harbor Statement

This press release contains forward-looking statements, including statements regarding the anticipated features and benefits of Replicate Solutions, within the meaning of the "safe harbor" provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 and other Federal Securities laws. Statements preceded by, followed by, or that otherwise include the words "believes", "expects", "anticipates", "intends", "estimates", "plans", and similar expressions or future or conditional verbs such as "will", "should", "would", "may" and "could" are generally forward-looking in nature and not historical facts. For example, when we say that the Attunity platform will automate the Customer's data integration process, we use a forward-looking statement. Because such statements deal with future events, they are subject to various risks and uncertainties and actual results, expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements, could differ materially from Attunity's current expectations. Factors that could cause or contribute to such differences include, but are not limited to, risks and uncertainties relating to: our history of operating losses and ability to achieve profitability; our reliance on strategic relationships with our distributors, OEM, VAR and "go-to-market" and other business partners, and on our other significant customers; our ability to manage our growth effectively; acquisitions, including costs and difficulties related to integration of acquired businesses and possible impairment charges; our ability to continue to expand our business into the SAP market and the success of our Gold Client offering; timely availability and customer acceptance of Attunity's new and existing products, including Attunity Replicate, Attunity Compose and Attunity Visibility; fluctuations in our quarterly operating results, which may not necessarily be indicative of future periods; changes in the competitive landscape, including new competitors or the impact of competitive pricing and products; a shift in demand for products such as Attunity's products; the impact on revenues of economic and political uncertainties and weaknesses in various regions of the world, including the commencement or escalation of hostilities or acts of terrorism as well as cyber-attacks; and other factors and risks on which Attunity may have little or no control. This list is intended to identify only certain of the principal factors that could cause actual results to differ. For a more detailed description of the risks and uncertainties affecting Attunity, reference is made to Attunity's latest Annual Report on Form 20-F which is on file with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and the other risk factors discussed from time to time by Attunity in reports filed with, or furnished to, the SEC. Except as otherwise required by law, Attunity undertakes no obligation to publicly release any revisions to these forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances after the date hereof or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events.
